50 Years of Forel: a new corporate video about people, vision and the future

Date: 13 May 2026 On the occasion of its 50th anniversary, Forel presents a new corporate video dedicated to the history, values and vision that continue to guide the company in the flat glass processing and insulating glass production sector. Through the voices of the family and company management, the video explores what these 50 years represent: intuition, innovation, growth, relationships, generational transition and future vision. An authentic story of Forel's identity Each testimony offers a personal perspective on a journey that began in 1976 and has evolved over time through the design of increasingly advanced glass processing machinery, developed to meet the needs of glass companies worldwide. The video is not only a celebration of an important anniversary, but also a reflection of Forel's evolution through the people who have contributed to shaping its identity. From Italian innovation to an international presence From an Italian company specialized in glass processing technologies to an international reality operating in more than 70 countries, Forel continues to invest in research, development and innovation to anticipate the evolution of the flat glass industry. Over the past 50 years, the company has built its path while remaining true to the values that have always guided its growth: attention to people, innovation and a future-oriented vision. The anniversary video tells a story made of ingenuity, technology and people — but above all, the desire to keep looking ahead. 600450 Forel 2026-05-13T08:58:22 glassonweb.com
